The government has announced a super gain tax applicable for the year of assessment 2013/14 . However implications on the Group (if any) are yet to be evaluated after the relevant gazette notification is issued by the Department of Inland Revenue.

13 Adoption of SLFRS 11 - Joint Arrangements in 2014/15 - Free Lanka Group

SLFRS 11 Joint Arrangements, replaces LKAS 31 - Interests in Joint Ventures and SIC-13 Jointly Controlled Entities - Non-Monetary Contributions by Ventures. SLFRS 11 also amends LKAS 28 Investments in Associates.

The main changes from LKAS 31 to SLFRS 11

As per LKAS 31, an option was availablefor jointly controlled entities, between proportionate consolidation and the equity accounting method. The new standard is on the basis that proportionate consolidation is not appropriate in the absence of rights/obligations directly to/for the underlying assets/obligations of the arrangement.

Based on the new standard, accounting for jointly controlled entities should be changed from proportionate consolidation which was allowed in LKAS 31 to equity accounting.

Previous method applied by LOLC Group

From the date of acquisition, LOLC accounted for Free Lanka Group using proportionate consolidation as allowed by LKAS 31. Proportionate consolidation method allowed the investor to account the proportion of assets, liabilities, income and expense of the joint venture in the investor's financial statements.

New treatment

As per the SLFRS 11, the method of accounting should be changed to equity accounting method where only the net assets movement of Jointly controlled entities are recorded in the investor's financial statements. The change in accounting method will affect the respective line items of the statement of financial position (balance sheet), the statement of profit or loss and the statement of other comprehensive income .

In the statement of financial position, the respective assets and liabilities of the Jointly controlled entities are removed from the consolidated numbers and the net assets proportion of the jointly controlled entities are equity accounted. There will be no impact on the parent's net assets of the consolidated financial statements. In the profit or loss, income and expenses of Jointly controlled entities are removed from the consolidations and the net profit of the Jointly controlled entities will be accounted as the share of profit of equity accounted investees.

The full effect of the change in current method of accounting using proportionate consolidation and future equity method of accounting as follows;
